Our priority is to supply you with a turkey as close to the preferred size as possible. Please understand that we cannot guarantee we'll have the exact size(s) you order. Our suppliers will do their best to provide us with what we've ordered, but they occasionally have to make substitutions. Since our turkeys are raised on small family-owned farms they grow a relatively small pool of birds compared to larger commercial operations. This provides for excellent quality, yet makes it harder to give everyone exactly what they request.
